Move forward with confidence.

Success in the rapidly-evolving cannabis industry requires specialized solutions and expertise to protect your people, property, and profits. It takes having a finger on the pulse of ever-changing regulatory requirements. And it requires the right response to recover in the event of a loss.

Lowers Risk Group offers a comprehensive suite of risk management solutions to help businesses across the spectrum of the cannabis industry –cultivators, manufacturers, retailers, dispensaries, distributors, deliverers, test labs, and more. Our solutions are centered on protecting your organization from avoidable loss and harm.

Drawing from our diverse team of risk and security professionals, we take a 360-degree approach to risk management, from assessment to mitigation to recovery, so organizations are protected at every stage. We bring visibility to security vulnerabilities and shine a light on potential risks. With this data in hand, we collaborate with clients to implement more robust security measures, and give them the tools needed to comply with regulatory standards.

Should a loss occur, we offer post-incident forensic investigatory and evidentiary support. We help you understand how it happened, who was involved, and how much it cost.

Solutions

Confidently take your business from start-up to expansion with cannabis industry risk solutions from Lowers Risk Group.

Risk Assessments & Mitigation

Protecting your business and its people from the inherent risks of doing business in the cannabis industry requires a clear understanding of your risk exposure. Lowers Risk Group performs risk assessments by conducting an impact analysis tailored to your business model and the unique nature of the cannabis industry. We use proven methodologies and industry expertise to pinpoint areas where you are most vulnerable. These efforts culminate in a blueprint for understanding your loss probability and the operational changes required to mitigate risks.
